

Lucas Everett Huntrods

Greetings, I write to you with great confidence in my recommendations for Luke. I have known Luke for over 6 years as a friend and teammate to my children. Lucas has a tremendous work ethic and achieves great accolades in athletics, academics and extracurricular activities. As his youth minister, I have particularly enjoyed watching Lucas grow in his leadership role at our church. He has been a member of our teen ministry team for 3 years and each year he consistently commits his time and skill to lead our middle school youth along their faith walk. He is a very good communicator and an even better listener. Luke takes time out of his busy schedule to volunteer in many ways. He is diligent in his studies and is a loyal and committed friend and teammate. When I think of someone I would like younger students to look up to, Luke comes to mind. He is fair, honest and honorable and a tremendous role model. He is very respectful to adults, his peers and younger children as well. Luke rarely complains and yet pushes on to continue to meet and achieve his goals. I believe if Luke is inducted into the National Honor Society he will grow even more as a young man, leader and charitably minded individual. Luke has so much to offer Collins-Maxwell community and I believe his involvement will be a great asset to him now and in his adult life. Thank you for your time.
